

Business Card Scanner Software Simplifies Contacts Management

If you are one of those business people with an impressive collection of loose business cards stuffed to overflowing in your briefcase or desk drawer, take heed. Business card scanner software can simplify your life dramatically.

With Optical Character Recognition technology, business card scanner software allows you to capture and digitalize all the text and image data contained on those cards into your laptop and convert it to your PC systems contact template. This is all done within seconds, giving you the capability to scan and recycle hundreds of cards within the space of an hour. Some business card scanner products come bundled into a combination scanner and software package, eliminating the need for a third party intermediary application to import your data into your contacts manager.

Business card scanners are self contained and fully mobile. They connect to your laptop via a cable and USB port and do not require an external power source, making them easy to carry with you to meetings, trade shows, workshops and seminars and other places where business cards are likely to be exchanged.

Business card scanner software is designed to capture more than business card data. It can also scan and upload the information and images from drivers licenses, personal identification cards, medical insurance cards, passports, checks, photos and even lottery tickets into your network for access later on. With some business card scanner software, you can even edit the information once it is in your system.

Your team members can also access your contact information from the network, boosting team productivity and efficiency. You and your colleagues can also share one business card scanner unit, giving your cost conscious company the same contacts leverage that larger companies enjoy. Soon those stacks of business cards that have accumulated on everyones desk will disappear. And, no problem if company needs eventually require individual business card scanner software. Additional scanners and software can be added to your network at any time.

So, here you have a business card scanning tool that collects valuable contact information within seconds and shares that data with every member of your team. What other advantage could there be. One very green one: saving trees by decreasing the number of hard copy business cards needed for contacts and business growth. Related Info Neatreceipts ...

About the Author

More references about scan to pdf, go by www.neatco.com.

Source: <http://ultimatedepotcom.com>